

A Resident's Guide to Frequently Asked Questions

Introduction

There are numerous information sources available to the public, but these tidbits of knowledge are often scattered throughout City and county booklets, library pamphlets, and the brains of many individuals. The purpose of this book is to consolidate as much of this information about Belmont and local services as possible and to create a general information resource for residents that is easy to use.

A book like this is by nature incomplete, and invariably will be out of date as soon as it is published. However, the goal is to maintain this book as a reference for years to come and to make it available on the City's web site, keeping the information as up-to-date and comprehensive as possible.

The City Council and staff hope you find this booklet helpful!

Questions or suggestions regarding this booklet should be sent to the City Manager's office at 595-7408 or email cmanger@belmont.gov.

Airport Noise

What can I do about the noise from the airport?

If you are concerned about noise from jets and large commercial planes contact the San Francisco Airport Noise Abatement Center at (650) 821-4739 or e-mail sfo.noise@flysfo.com to file a formal complaint. For small plane noise issues, you can call the San Carlos Airport at (650) 573-2666 or e-mail airports@co.sanmateo.ca.us.

Alcoholism

Does Belmont have an AA chapter? Where and when do they meet?

Belmont's Alcoholics Anonymous (AA) meets at Good Shepherd Church Parish building, at 1300 5th Avenue. On Mondays at 7:30pm; Tuesdays at 12pm; Thursdays at 7:30pm; and Fridays at 12pm and 6:00pm. In addition, there are women's group meetings on Friday at 5:30pm and on Saturday at 5:00pm. You can call (650) 577-1310 or e-mail: aa@aa-san-mateo.org for further information.

Animals, Domestic (see Pets)

Antennas

How large a rooftop antenna can I put on my house?

Without a permit, a roof-mounted antenna cannot exceed nine feet in height or four feet above the highest roof elevation, whichever is less. Ground-mounted antennas cannot exceed 12 feet in height and shall not be visible from the public right-of-way. Any antenna taller than this height requires a conditional use permit. For specific questions, please contact the Belmont Permit Center at (650) 598-4204.

Can I install a satellite dish on my property?

Without a permit, dish-type antennas cannot be greater than six feet in diameter nor seven feet in height, and must be installed on the ground. Any satellite dish larger than this requires a conditional use permit. There are also property line setback requirements, and the dish should not be visible from the public right-of-way. For further information, call the Belmont Permit Center at (650) 598-4204.

Banner Policy

Can I hang a banner advertisement across Ralston Ave.?

City or city-sponsored events are given "first priority" for use of the banner poles. Belmont affiliated organizations are given "second priority" for use of the banner poles. Banners cannot be used to advertise a business or product. Applicants must submit a Temporary Banner Permit Application, available at the City Hall, Permit Center.

To find out more about construction specifications and insurance requirements visit the Public Works, Banner Policy page at <http://www.belmont.gov/subContent.asp?CatId=240001699>.

Building / Construction

I need to hire a contractor for a building project.

Where should I start?

Ask friends and neighbors about positive experiences they have had with various contractors. See if your local neighborhood association maintains a list of recommended contractors. (See the Neighborhoods section)

Contact the Peninsula Builders Exchange for a referral, it is a non-profit, member-ran organization. The Peninsula Builders Exchange can be reached at (650) 591-4486, or see them on the web at <http://www.constructionplans.org/index.htm>.

Make sure that you deal only with licensed contractors. To verify contractors information call the Contractors State License Board at 1-800-321-2752 Be sure to have the contractor's name, license number, and business address on hand when calling.

Remember, an informed consumer is a smart consumer, so always try to get bids from at least three contractors. Be sure to ask for references of work completed in the local area. Make sure you get a written contract, and do not sign it until you fully understand the terms and conditions.

Does the Belmont Permit Center have building plans for my house? Can I get a copy?

The City has nearly every developed lot in Belmont on file. The file should contain copies of all permitted improvements made to the property. Though this is not always the case, especially for older homes, where plans are outdated, incomplete, or non-existent. In such cases the Permit Center will do its best to meet your needs.

Please note, plans cannot be copied without written consent of the architect. For more details, call the Permit Center at (650) 595-7422.

Does Belmont teach any classes to help with remodeling projects?

Yes! The City of Belmont usually gives an owner/builder class once a year for people who would like to know more about the building and remodeling process. For further information, call the Permit Center at (650) 595-7422.

I want to build a new house or add onto an existing house in Belmont. What do I have to do?

1. The Project Concept. A developer, property owner, or business has an idea to construct or remodel a building in Belmont. At this point, there may be lots of questions about the zoning designation of the property in question, whether a use permit is required, and whether design requirements are a factor for the project. The place to start is the City's Permit Center, where staff can provide the information you need and answer your questions.

2. Pre-application Meeting. Prior to the submission of a development application, staff in the Permit Center is available to meet developers/owners to discuss project plans in conceptual form and to provide general information and direction regarding application submittal requirements. This gives potential customers the opportunity to obtain information about the review process, realistic estimates of the time involved, and tips for minimizing delays.

3. Development Application. An application, which includes the building design, a site plan and a landscape plan, is submitted to the Permit Center. A city planner is then assigned to the project, and the application is sent out to various departments for review and comment.

4. Referral Review. After staff has had an opportunity to review the development application, the project planner meets with department representatives to discuss their comments, issues, and recommended conditions of approval for the project. More information and plans may be requested from the applicant based on the results of the various departments' and divisions' review.

5. Staff Report and Public Hearing. The project planner writes a staff report about the project including the planning concerns and conditions of approval. Staff recommends in the report whether the application should be approved or denied, based on whether the proposed project meets the City's requirements and policies. The application request is then scheduled for a public hearing before the Planning Commission or the City Council. At a public hearing the applicant is provided an opportunity to address the Commission or Council. Also, all neighbors within 300 feet of your property are notified by mail of your project and may make comments at the Public Hearing. Certain applications can be approved without a public hearing by the Planning Director.

6. Construction Plans Submittal. Once the project has been approved, a building permit application and construction plans are submitted to the Permit Center for review. Other permits may also be necessary from the Fire Authority, Engineering Division of public works, the County Health Department, etc.

7. Project Plan Check. City plan checkers in the Permit Center review the construction plans for compliance with building codes. Plans also may be routed to other departments for their review and comment. Plans will be checked against any project conditions of approval established by the Planning Commission or the City Council in a public hearing. The plan check process may take from one day to several weeks, depending on the complexity of the project. You will be notified within 30 days of the status of your permit request. In some cases you may wish to submit plans for plan check before your project is approved in a public hearing. In this case, you do so at your own risk.

8. Permit Issuance and Construction Inspections. No construction is permitted without the required permits. During construction, periodic field inspections are made to insure that the project is being constructed in compliance with the approved plans and the applicable codes. Construction is permitted only between the hours of 8am and 5pm Monday through Friday, and 10am and 5pm on Saturday. No construction is permitted on Sundays or holidays.

I have heard about “Design Review”—what is it?

Design Review by the Planning Commission is required for all new homes, substantial grading, major encroachments into the public right-of-way, and additions to existing homes of 400 sq ft. or greater. Grading is considered substantial when it results in 500 cubic yards or more of cut and fill, 6,000 sq. ft. or more of disturbed area, or removal or endangerment of a protected tree. This means that a public hearing is scheduled for the project, and all neighbors within 300 feet are notified by mail and may make public comment on the design of the new house or the addition, and how it may affect their own homes and their neighborhood. The design review submittal must also include a “neighborhood outreach strategy” for contacting your neighbors and informing them of the project prior to the planning commission public hearing.

Most projects requiring design review have been approved as originally submitted, with some cases requiring minor modifications. Many times, the project is improved as a result of the design review. Factors that the Planning Commission looks at when considering a Design Review application include neighborhood compatibility, architectural design, floor area, building bulk, exterior and roof materials, grading, drainage, landscaping, parking, site layout, and public view obstructions. For further information, contact the Permit Center at (650) 595-7416.

How high a fence or retaining wall can I build?

See the answer to this and other permit-related questions in the Building Permits section.

Building Inspections

How much notice is required for a building inspection? Where do I call to schedule an inspection?

Building inspections can generally be scheduled for the next days, although more notice is always better for both you and the City. Building inspections are scheduled through an automated inspection line. The service is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Just call (650) 637-2914 to schedule your inspection. You will need to know your permit number.

Building Permits

What types of construction in Belmont require a building permit?

Almost everything that you can possibly think of requires a building permit from the City. It's much easier to list things that DO NOT require a permit:

- Fences 6 feet tall or shorter. Fences and retaining walls are limited to 3 ½ feet in height in the front yard when your property is within 40-feet of a street intersection.
- Retaining walls 4 feet tall or shorter, measured from the bottom of the footing or post to the top of the wall. All retaining walls that support a surcharge require a permit, regardless of height.
- Painting and wallpapering
- Walks and driveways NOT more than 30" above grade, and NOT above a basement or story
- Free-standing sheds less than 120 square feet
- And a few other things like water tanks and oil derricks!

In general, any mechanical or structural work (like cabinets, doors, windows, roofs, etc.), plumbing work (sinks, toilets, irrigation, water heaters, etc.), or electrical work (appliances, furnaces, garage door openers, pool pumps, etc.) requires a building permit. If you have any questions about a project, please call the Permit Center at (650) 595-7422.

REMEMBER—building permits ensure that any work done in your home is done PROPERLY, for health and safety reasons, and will save you time and money in the long run when you sell your home.

Do I need a permit to... (Read carefully)

...install or reface my kitchen cabinets?

You do not need a permit to reface your cabinets. You do need a permit to replace them.

...replace my water heater?

Yes. If you pay a plumber to do the job, he would also normally get the permit.

...replace my roof?

Yes. If you pay a roofer to do the work, he will generally get the permit.

...add or replace a fence?

If the fence is 6 feet tall or shorter, you do not need a building permit. In addition, no fence, wall, or hedge can exceed 3-1/2 feet in height when located in a front yard that is within 40 feet of a street intersection. This is to provide a line of sight for cross traffic. Also, you cannot build your fence too close to the street in the city's right-of-way without an encroachment permit (see Encroachments).

...build a retaining wall?

If the retaining wall is 4 feet tall or shorter measured from the bottom of the post or footing, you do not need a building permit. (See fence/retaining wall height limitations when located in the front yard under "Building Permits" – page 7). However, as with fences, you cannot build a retaining wall in the city's right-of-way without an encroachment permit (see Encroachments). The height of the wall is measured from the bottom of the footing or post to the top of the wall. All retaining walls, regardless of height, that support a surcharge require a building permit.

Yes; the heating/furnace contractor generally should get it for you.

...install a pool, a spa, or a hot tub?

Prefabricated swimming pools that are 5,000 gallons or less, whose walls are entirely above grade (i.e., Dough-Boy™-style, above ground pools) do not require a permit. Hot tubs, spas, and in-ground pools that need plumbing and electrical work DO require building permits, unless they are entirely self-contained units. Call the Permit Center at (650) 595-7422

...build a greenhouse or a tool shed?

Single-story buildings that are NOT attached to other buildings, not exceeding 120 square feet (including the roofline), do not need a permit. Above 120 square feet, contact the Building Division at (650) 595-7422. In addition, please note the following as it relates to detached buildings:

Buildings which are subordinate to, and the use of which is incidental to that of the main building or use on the same lot, are considered accessory buildings. Detached accessory buildings, including garages, carports, garden structures, greenhouses, storage buildings, etc., are permitted in all single-family residential districts, subject to the following provisions:

- There is a single-family dwelling on site.
- The accessory structure is not in front of the principal dwelling on site.

- The accessory structure is no more than fifteen (15) feet in height.
- There is a minimum of five (5) feet between the accessory structure and the main unit on site.
- The additional floor area of the accessory structure does not exceed the total floor area permitted for the site (when all structures are considered).
- Non-habitable accessory structures, (i.e., garages and sheds with no heat or bathing facilities) occupy no more than 40 percent required yard areas, and are no less than five feet from the rear lot line..

...enclose part of my yard?

When you enclose or cover part of your yard, you are in effect increasing the square footage of your living space. This requires a building permit. The additional square footage may exceed what is permitted on the property and/or may require, design review approval. Contact the Planning Division in the Permit Center before preparing your plans. See the question on "Design Review" and the "Planning and Building process" question in the Building / Construction section.

...connect to the city storm drain system?

Yes, you will need an encroachment permit. See the Encroachments section, and call (650) 595-7425.

Can I use a credit card to pay for building fees and permits?

Yes. The City accepts cash, check, Visa and Master Card.

Code Enforcement

How do I report graffiti that I just saw on Belmont public property?

As a community, we need to deal with graffiti as soon as it appears. The only way to discourage graffiti is to paint it out immediately. Many people associate graffiti with the general decline of an area, even if it is not true. Belmont merchants can lose business because potential customers feel that the area is not safe. If graffiti is on a city owned building, call the Parks Department at (650) 595-7441. If graffiti is on city owned signs, poles, signal boxes, or roadways call Public Works at (650) 595-7425. Private property owners are responsible for removing graffiti on their property. Please call the Belmont Police Department at (650) 595-7400 to report graffiti in the City.

My neighbor's house is a real eyesore—peeling paint, trash in the front yard, weeds, etc. What can I do about it?

There are two ways to report possible code enforcement violations. The first is to call the City Code Enforcement Officer at (650) 637-2968. The second way is to do it by E-Mail. The E-Mail address is codeenforcement@belmont.gov.

One of Belmont's highest priorities is to preserve and maintain our neighborhoods. A strong code enforcement program has been shown to reduce crime and improve property values. The general "hierarchy" of code enforcement cases are: 1) Health and Safety, 2) On-going Enforcement, and 3) General Welfare. Here are SOME general property maintenance items that are prohibited in Belmont (this is certainly not a complete list):

- Overgrown grass, weeds, and vegetation.
- Trash visible from the public right-of-way.
- Broken appliances, furniture, boxes, empty cartons, toys, etc.
- Discarded building materials.
- Trash cans stored such that they are visible from the public right-of-way.
- Clothes lines in front yards.

The City of Belmont recognizes the need for confidentiality for people who file complaints, and also understands that flexibility is needed in code enforcement activities when violators are elderly or infirm. For more information on the City's code enforcement program is available on the Community Development page of the City's website at www.belmont.gov or by calling (650) 637-2968.

My street has beat-up cars parked on it that never seem to be used. What can I do about them?

Belmont has an ordinance within the city that a vehicle must be moved every 72 hours (3 days) at least 1/10 of a mile. Only currently registered and fully operable vehicles (cars, boats, etc.) can legally be parked on the street. For more detailed information, see the section on Parking in this guide.

- The Parks and Recreation Commission: Nine members total, 7 members over age 18 appointed to two-year terms, 2 youth members appointed to one-year terms. The Parks and Recreation Commission meets the first Wednesday of the month at 7:30 p.m. and makes recommendations to the City Council on matters pertaining to Belmont's Parks and Recreation programs.

Earthquakes/Emergencies

What should I do during an earthquake?

If you are INSIDE, stay inside. Get under a desk or table, or stand in a doorway. Stay away from windows and from any object that might fall on top of you.

If you are OUTSIDE, stay outside. Get out into the open, away from buildings, trees, utility poles, and power lines.

If you are DRIVING, pull over to the side of the road, stop, and stay in your car. Do not park under an overpass, under power lines, or near utility poles, trees, signs, or large buildings.

How should I prepare for the next earthquake?

There are a number of specific things that every family should do to prepare for the next inevitable earthquake. A number of excellent pamphlets are available from San Mateo County, PG&E, the Belmont Library, and several other sources. A short, essential list of things you should do includes the following:

- Know how to turn off the gas, electricity, and water to your home.
- Make sure your water heater is strapped to the wall.
- Don't hang heavy pictures or mirrors over beds.
- Secure tall, heavy furniture that could fall over—bookcases, china cabinets, etc. Avoid hanging plants in heavy pots. Don't place breakables and heavy objects on high shelves.
- Store flammable liquids safely—in a shed or garage, away from ignition sources.
- Consult with an architect or engineer about earthquake improvements to your house.
- Have basic emergency supplies on hand—portable radio, water, first-aid kit, flashlights, batteries, and blankets.
- Pick an out-of-town friend or relative to act as a point of contact in case family members become separated and cannot contact one another.

Schools/day care facilities should have an emergency plan. Talk to the responsible people there and know what it is. You will then know how/where to safely pick up children.

Create a Family Plan – You may not be together when a disaster happens, so plan how you will make contact and review what you will do in different situations. For more information, go to: www.ready.gov.

Encroachments

How can I get an encroachment permit? Why do I need one? What do they cost?

The Belmont City Code governs the use of the public right-of-way by individuals. The Department of Public Works is authorized to issue an encroachment permit, which allows construction work within the public right-of-way. This type of work includes driveway approaches, property line cleanouts, parking pads, and curb drains.

For use of any non-standard material (pavers, bricks, etc.) in a driveway approach, the property owner must execute an Administrative Permanent Encroachment Agreement, recorded by the City Clerk with San Mateo County. The agreement obligates the property owner to replace the non-standard material should it be necessary for the City to do work in this area.

For construction of a retaining wall, stairway, fence or any similar structure within the public right-of-way, Council approval is required. To make a positive finding for such a permit, the Council should be able to confirm the following:

- That there is some public benefit to the encroachment—such as added off-street parking spaces, sidewalks, safer site distances from intersections, etc.
- That the encroachment will not unduly restrict travel in the public right-of-way.
- That the city will be protected from liability for injury or property damage.
- That the performance of all the conditions and requirements of the permit will be guaranteed by the posting of a bond with the city.

(However, Council approval is not required for replacing a retaining wall that was constructed before December 9, 2003. Section 22-13 of the City Ordinance allows the Public Works Director to issue a permit based on the same findings listed above.)

You can pick up a permit application for an encroachment permit at Permit Center, in City Hall. The phone number is (650) 595-7422, and the master fee schedule is available under Finance Department on the City's website – www.belmont.gov.

Fire Department Information

What should I do if I smell burning or a strange smell in house or yard?

CALL 911! The Fire Department gets several calls every month from people who detect an odd smell in their homes. It may be a gas leak or some other dangerous vapor. The Fire Department has a special "sniffer" gadget that can detect different odors, and whether or not they are harmful. So don't take any chances, call if you smell something funny.

What do I do if I see smoke or a fire?

Call 911! Immediately!

What types of fire extinguishers should I have, and how many fire extinguishers should I have in my house?

You should install a fire extinguisher in every room that poses a potential fire hazard: the kitchen, the garage, any living space with a fireplace, and any workshops. Mount the fire extinguishers on a wall 3 ½ to 5 feet above the floor. The location should be near the room's exit or escape route.

Fire extinguishers are categorized by ratings (A, B, C) that determine the size and type of fire that the extinguisher can successfully put out. An "A" type fire is primarily wood, paper, and fabric; "B" type fires are primarily grease and oil based; and "C" type fires are electrical in nature. The number preceding the A, B, or C rating determines what size fire the extinguisher can put out. For example, a 10B:C extinguisher would be able to handle a 25-square-foot fire of either oil or electrical origin. A 5B:C extinguisher could handle a 12.5 square-foot fire that is oil or electrical based. Get a good B or C fire extinguisher for the kitchen; and a good A, B, and C extinguisher for the garage and the other living areas. Make sure you have at least one fire extinguisher on every level of your house, including the basement. Call Belmont/San Carlos Fire Department at (650) 802-4255 if you have any further questions.

Where should I place smoke alarms in my home? How many smoke alarms do I need?

You should install a smoke alarm inside each bedroom as well as in the main corridor or hallway outside each bedroom area. You need to install a minimum of two alarms even in single-level homes. You should also install a smoke alarm above the stairwells.

Ideally, mount the alarms in the middle of the ceiling. If that isn't possible (because of a light fixture, etc.), then mount the alarms on the wall at least three feet away from any corner and 4 - 6 inches away from the ceiling. Keep smoke alarms away from drafts created by fans or air ducts, since moving air can blow smoke away from the sensor. Also, avoid placing smoke alarms too near the kitchen stove or bathroom shower.

What should I do if I see or smell smoke, smell a chemical release, or witness a potential medical emergency?

Call 911, the emergency telephone number for the Belmont/San Carlos Fire Department.

What should I do if I witness an actual fire, a chemical release, a medical or similar emergency?

Call 911, the emergency telephone number for the Belmont/San Carlos Fire Department.

What should I do if I witness something I believe is a fire hazard in a building where I work, shop, or reside?

Contact a building representative first. If your communication with this responsible party does not result in the successful resolution of your concern(s), contact the Belmont/San Carlos Fire Department's Prevention and Education Division at (650) 802-4255. You will confidentially be asked for your name and telephone number should a fire inspector need to follow-up with you. Sorry, anonymous reports cannot be accepted.

What should I do to protect my family and my residence from the ravages of fire?

1. Install smoke detectors inside each bedroom, in the corridor or hallway area serving the bedrooms, and at the top of each stairwell, if your residence is not already so equipped.
2. Regularly test your smoke detector(s) to ensure their proper operability.
3. Install a 2A/10BC portable fire extinguisher to combat small fires involving ordinary combustibles, flammable/combustible liquids, and energized electrical equipment. The preferable location to mount portable fire extinguishers is on a wall, 3.5 to 5 feet above the surface of the floor, near an exit or escape route.
4. Clear combustible vegetation 30 feet to 100 feet away from your residence or to the property line, whichever is closest;
5. Develop and practice an emergency escape plan involving all the occupants of your residence.
6. Ensure that ordinary and/or special fire hazards don't exist on your property.

Can I obtain a copy of a fire alarm report?

Yes. Come to the Fire Administration Building at San Carlos City Hall, 600 Elm Street. The Belmont-San Carlos Fire Department is located on the 2nd floor. Please allow at least 72 hours after the emergency to obtain a copy. Copying costs apply.

Graffiti (see also Code Enforcement)

Where does the graffiti come from? Who does it?

Most graffiti is done by youths from pre-teens to early 20's. Because most "taggers" like their peers to recognize their work, most graffiti is done by those who live nearby. Although many people believe that graffiti signals the presence of gangs, less than 10% of all graffiti nationwide is gang-related.

What can I do about graffiti?

Remove any graffiti immediately and continuously from your property. Vandals will realize that their time and paint is being wasted and will move on. Keep your property well lit, clean, and landscaped.

How did my street get its name?

Most people know the story of "Alameda de las Pulgas" (avenue of the fleas) and "El Camino Real" (the king's highway)—but there's also a reason behind every other street name in Belmont. Homesharing is an arrangement whereby two or more unrelated people share a residence, which could be a house or an apartment. This is a program sponsored by the Human Investment Project for housing, through funding provided by San Mateo County.

HIP Housing facilitates two types of living arrangements—match or service exchange. In a match arrangement, the home provider is matched up with a seeker who pays rent. In a service exchange, a home seeker agrees to provide services to the homeowner in exchange for rent.

Homesharing reduces costs, promotes independence, and provides increased security for both parties. To arrange for an interview, call the Human Investment Project at (650) 348-6660, or to learn more visit their website at <http://www.hiphousing.org>.

Hydrants

What do the different colors on the hydrants mean?

Due to the fires in the Oakland Hills, the State of California has mandated that cities identify the flow capabilities of their hydrants in a uniform manner. This is so that firefighters who may be called in from other areas to fight fires can easily identify the hydrants. All the hydrants are painted white to stand out in the dark. The tops and sides of the hydrants are then painted red, orange, green, or blue to denote the gallons per minute flow capability:

- Red top - below 500 gallons per minute
- Orange top - 501 to 1000 gallons per minute
- Green top - 1001 to 1500 gallons per minute
- Blue top - over 1500 gallons per minute

Am I allowed to draw water from a Belmont fire hydrant?

Yes. The Mid Peninsula Water District will loan you a hydrant water meter for an $800 deposit. Then you pay a $57 service charge and $1.88 per unit of water that you use. One unit of water is approximately 750 gallons. Upon return of the meter, your $800 deposit will be refunded. Call the Water District at (650) 591-8941 for further information.

I cannot seem to get along with my neighbors! We cannot agree about his floodlights, parking, parties, etc. What can I do about it?

If you can't seem to work things out with your neighbors, call the Peninsula Conflict Resolution Center at (650) 373-3490. The PCRC is an independent, non-profit organization that provides FREE basic mediation for Belmont residents. Not only can they help with a variety of neighbor problems—such as noise, pets, parking, trees, and fences—but also with other issues such as landlords, tenants, employers, businesses and customers, and families.

Instead of fighting or going to court, a panel of mediators will listen to both sides of the issue in question. They will not take sides, but will assist you and the other party in finding a mutually satisfactory resolution. Try it, it works! 80% of disputes brought to mediation are settled, and 90% of the mediation agreements are upheld.

My neighbor has lots of weeds and trash in his yard. What can I do about it?

Garbage that can be seen from the street is a public nuisance. This includes not just trash but car parts, old furniture, etc. Not only does this make the neighborhood look bad, but it's also a fire, rodent, and wildlife hazard. First, try to talk to your neighbor; if this proves unsuccessful, you can report the problem to the city's code enforcement officer at (650) 637-2968. All information will be kept confidential.

Noise

Are there any time/day restrictions on gas-powered equipment?

Yes. Powered equipment used for non-construction activities, shall be allowed between the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday and 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. No powered equipment shall be allowed outside of the aforementioned hours. Call the Police Departments non-emergency telephone number at (650) 595-7400 to report possible violations. Street sweeping and garbage collection activities are exempt from the 8:00am start time.

Are there time restrictions on construction noise?

Yes. All construction and related activities are only allowed from 8:00am to 5:00pm on weekdays, and from 10:00am to 5:00pm on Saturdays. No construction activities are allowed on Sundays or holidays. Call the Police Departments non-emergency telephone number at (650) 595-7400 to report possible violations.

Parking

My neighbor has an old, beat-up car, boat, or RV parked in front of his house and it looks terrible. What can I do about it?

PARKING ON THE STREET—Belmont has an ordinance within the city that a vehicle must be moved every 72 hours (3 days) at least 1/10 of a mile. Only currently registered and fully operable vehicles (cars, boats, etc.) can be parked on the street.

Parking on many of our streets is very limited, and is far too valuable for storing inoperable vehicles.

PARKING ON PRIVATE PROPERTY—Only vehicles that are registered, and that can be legally operated on a California highway can park outside of a fully enclosed garage. Parking must be on paved or surfaced areas—not on dirt or lawns!

REMEMBER—Beat-up, inoperable cars are a sign of BLIGHT and give the message that people do not care about their property. This invites crime and lowers property values. It hurts the neighborhoods and city.

To report a complaint, call the Belmont Police's Abandoned Vehicle Hotline at (650) 595-7455.

My neighbors keep parking in front of my house! What can I do?

There is no law requiring people to park their own cars in front of their own houses. Any legally registered, operable vehicle may be parked on the street in the public right-of-way. However, everyone seems to appreciate it if people keep their cars parked on or in front of their own property.

What should I do if my vehicle has been towed?

If your vehicle was towed by the Belmont Police, you must go to the department and pay a release fee. Then, go to the appropriate towing company and pay the towing and storage fees. If the vehicle was towed for an expired registration, you must also bring proof of current registration.

You must possess a valid California Driver's License, if you will be driving the vehicle away after paying the towing fees.

Can I work on my car in front of my house?

You can only perform routine maintenance or emergency repairs outdoors. Minor repairs may be made in your driveway as long as the car is registered to the address where the work is taking place or registered to the person who is doing the work. Please be sure not to let materials flow into the storm drain system. All other repairs must be done in an enclosed garage. Work cannot be done in the public right-of-way and storage of vehicle parts within public view is prohibited.

I want to construct more parking in front of my house. How do I go about doing this?

Since you will most likely be constructing your parking in the public right-of-way, you will need an encroachment permit from the city before you do any work. For further information, call the Belmont Permit Center at (650) 595-7422 and see the Encroachments section in this book.

There are so many cars parked on both sides of my street I can barely drive past them! Is there anything I can do about it?

Cars parked on the street should not interfere with emergency vehicle access, like fire trucks and ambulances. If you can't get your car through, the emergency vehicles probably can't get through either! Please ask your neighbors to move their cars. For further information, call the Belmont Police at (650) 595-7400.

What are my responsibilities for having a home alarm system? What will the Belmont police do when my alarm goes off?

First, you need to get a permit for your alarm from the Belmont Police Department. It is a misdemeanor to use an alarm system in Belmont without a permit. All audible alarms must be installed or activated to automatically cease transmitting the audible signal within ten minutes. A user or a representative should respond within one hour to the premises upon the request of the Police Department.

The holder of the alarm permit has a responsibility to instruct all persons who use the alarm system in its proper function to avoid false alarms.

An alarm system shall constitute a public nuisance if it activates false alarms MORE THAN TWO TIMES during a permit year. In violation of this rule, the following actions may be taken:

- With the third false alarm during a permit year, a permittee shall be required to compensate the city for its response by paying a fee. The fee will go progressively higher with the fourth false alarm.
- With the fifth false alarm, and any and all subsequent false alarms, the permittee shall be required to compensate the city for the total cost of its response which could be as high as $125.

Note that all of the above information does NOT apply to car alarms. No permit is required for alarms in your vehicle, and no penalties are issued for false alarms. HOWEVER, if your car alarm is activated and does not shut itself off, it becomes a public nuisance, and the police might tow your car!

The Department of Parks and Recreation’s Tree Board reviews tree removal applications when a tree is proposed for removal because it is creating an imminent danger to persons and/or real property, or when tree removal is not associated with any planning permit entitlements. Please call the Parks and Recreation Department for further information at (650) 595-7441. The Planning Commission reviews tree removal applications when reviewing applications for other development entitlements (i.e., Design Reviews, Variances, etc). The Board and Commission consider a number of factors, including the condition of the tree, safety hazards posed, interference with utility services, topography, number of trees that can be adequately supported on the site, and the necessity to remove or prune the tree to allow reasonable development of the property.

What is a “protected tree?”

This is a tree that is native to, or which has adapted to, climatic conditions of the area, having a trunk diameter of 10 inches or greater measured 4-1/2 feet above the ground. This includes the following species: Oaks, Bay, Buckeye, Monterey Cypress, Redwood, Giant Sequoia, and Madrone. ANY species of tree with an 18-inch diameter trunk (EXCEPT for Acacias, Eucalyptus, and Monterey Pines) is also considered a “protected tree.”

Why does Belmont have a tree ordinance?

Belmont’s trees and open space are part of what makes us unique. In addition, the trees in Belmont prevent erosion and lessen the danger of floods and landslides. Much of the land in Belmont is on some type of slope. There are aesthetic and practical reasons to have regulations that control the removal of protected trees in Belmont in order to retain as many trees as possible that are consistent with the reasonable economic use of private property.

I want to trim one of my trees. Do I need a permit?

If a tree is not a protected tree, then you do not need a permit to perform any trimming. If the tree IS protected, then you may remove up to 1/3 of the crown or foliage of the tree without a permit. If you want to remove more than 1/3 of a protected tree, then a permit is required. Please call the Parks and Recreation Department for further information at (650) 595-7441.

One of my neighbor's trees is hanging over the fence in my yard. Can I trim it?

Generally, you have a right to cut any part of the tree that is over your property, as long as you don't permanently damage the tree. To avoid legal problems, it's best to notify your neighbor (the owner of the tree in question) of your intentions before you do anything, so that your neighbor first has a chance to take care of the problem. If the tree is protected (see above) and you want to trim more than 1/3 of the tree, you will also need to get a tree permit from the City.

Where do I apply for a tree permit?

You can get an application for a permit over the counter at the Parks and Recreation office in Twin Pines Park at 30 Twin Pines Lane. Call the Parks and Recreation office first at (650) 595-7441 since 99% of all tree permit applications can get started over the phone.

Water (see also Hydrants)

Where does Belmont city water come from?

Belmont gets water from the Mid-Peninsula Water District (650) 591-8941, which buys its water from the San Francisco Water Department. Most of the water comes from Sierra snowmelt and is stored in the Hetch Hetchy Reservoir. Our water is delivered through a series of tunnels and pipes over 150 miles long. Most of Belmont water does not come from the Crystal Springs Reservoir, to most people's surprise!

Where can I find my water main shut-off valve?

Look for the main valve where the water supply enters your house. If you can't find it, the Mid-Peninsula Water District can come out and show you where it is. After you locate the valve, you might want to mark it with fluorescent paint or tape in case you have to find it in the dark.

Why is my water bill so high? I don't think I use that much water.

You might have a leak and not even be aware of it. Locate your water meter—it's usually in a concrete box near the curb of your house. Read the meter first at night, and then again in the morning before any water is used. Subtract the first from the second reading to see if any water has leaked out overnight. If you don't have a leak, call the Water District at 591-8941 and ask them to look at your bill and check your meter. If you do have a leak, you should contact a plumber for repairs.

I think I have a leak—what's the first place I should check?

Check your toilets—they are frequent sources of leaks. Put dye tablets or food coloring in the toilet tank. If color appears in the bowl without flushing, there's a leak that should be repaired.

My tap water smells or tastes funny. What can I find out about it?

Belmont water completely complies with all the US Environmental Protection Agency and the California Department of Health Services standards and regulations. Sierra water is disinfected with chlorine and undergoes filtration to greatly reduce the level of contaminants. Infrequent odd tastes and odors in water are usually caused by dissolved gases or minerals, and are typically not harmful. If you have any specific concerns, you can call the Water District office at (650) 591-8941.

Where can I get my tap water tested?

The Mid Peninsula Water District tests our water annually, and will gladly provide you a copy of their most recent test results at the District office at 3 Dairy Lane in Belmont. All customers also receive a copy of the report every year between March and October with their water bill. These tests are much more extensive than any tests you would be able to perform yourself.

Should I store water for emergencies?

YES—you should store one gallon per person in your family per day to last 3-5 days. If you have 4 people in your family, that's 20 gallons of water to put in storage. Use clean, unbreakable containers, and disinfect the water before storing it. You can use tincture of iodine (12 drops/gallon) or chlorine bleach (8 drops/gallon) as a disinfectant.

Does Belmont city water have fluoride in it?

No. Belmont does not receive fluoridated water from the San Francisco Water Department. Belmont water does have a small amount (0.5 parts per million) of fluoride, which occurs from the erosion of natural deposits.

Beginning the Fall of 2003, Belmont's water customers experienced a change in their drinking water when the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission (SFPUC) changed its primary drinking water disinfectant from chlorine to chloramines. Chloramine is a combination of chlorine and ammonia. The conversion will offer an increased protection of public health, while meeting stricter state and federal water quality regulations. As with chlorine, three special groups, specifically kidney dialysis patients, aquarium owners and businesses or industries that use water in their treatment process, will need to remove chloramines from the water prior to use. For more information, visit <http://better.sfwater.org> or contact the water district at (650) 591-8941.

Does Belmont city water have lead in it?

Belmont does not deliver water that contains lead. However, some households acquire lead in their water due to the lead in older, soldered pipe joints.

How "hard" is Belmont city water?

Belmont water has about 40 parts per million (ppm) of Calcium Carbonate, which by most standards is considered "soft."

If you have questions call the Wildlife Care Center at 650 340-7022, ext 314 or wildlife@peninsulahumanesociety.org. If you are unable to bring the animal in, please call 650 340-8200.
